

HUGH MACPHERSON DRISCOLL, ARCHITECT

chord architecture, 695 calle espejo, santa fe, new mexico 87505, 505.474.5459 hmd3@chordarchitecture.com

EDUCATION

M. Arch., UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, LOS ANGELES, 1993. Concentration in Energy and Environment; Thesis: "The Landscape of Fear."

A.B., Art, STANFORD UNIVERSITY, 1987. Concentration in Design; Studied evolutionary biology in Human Biology Program.

EXPERIENCE

registered architect, number 3471, State of New Mexico.

principal, CHORD ARCHITECTURE, Santa Fe, New Mexico, 1996-present. Architecture and planning for residential, educational, institutional and commercial buildings.

lecturer, UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO, DEPARTMENT OF ARCHITECTURE, Albuquerque, New Mexico, spring 2004. Visiting lecturer teaching third year masters candidates in a comprehensive studio (Studio M). Urban infill site located in Mexico City. Co-taught with Chris Calott and Miquel Adria.

lecturer, STANFORD UNIVERSITY, PROGRAM ON URBAN STUDIES, Stanford, California, 1997-1998. Visiting Scholar teaching undergraduate studio courses on sustainable architecture.

project manager, MAZRIA ASSOCIATES, INC., Santa Fe, New Mexico, 1993-1996. Designed and managed large-scale architecture and planning projects.

teaching assistant, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, LOS ANGELES, 1992-1993. Developed curriculum and assisted in teaching graduate-level technology and studio courses with Professor Richard Schoen.

architectural intern, TREVOR ABRAMSON ARCHITECT, Santa Monica, California, 1992.
BEN REFUERZO, R-2 ARCH, Los Angeles, California, 1991. Project team received Research Citation for "Community Public Health Care", 1992 Progressive Architecture Awards. URBAN INNOVATIONS GROUP, Los Angeles, California, 1990.

product designer, WARASHINA ASSOCIATES, Palo Alto, California, 1988-1989. Designed computers, electronic equipment and graphics, concept through production.